Hugh E. Smith To Be Carmel City Forester

Despite a great deal of time spent on what Councilman Stephen Grant termed "shooting at mice while elephants run by," the city council last night unanimously voted to hire a professional forester and institute an intensive program to preserve Carmel's urban forest on both private and public property.

Mayor Herbert Blanks lauded the hiring of Hugh E. Smith to be the city's consulting forester as a big step towards real forest planning in Carmel.

Mr. Smith will be paid $120 a month. His first duty will be to prepare an intensive management plan.

This plan will include a detailed survey of the city's tree population, also an examination of the condition of all trees within the city limits in respect to injuries, insect and disease damage, roots, feeding space, growth potential, soil, drainage, exposure and age.

Based on the result of this survey, Mr. Smith will prepare a map showing the forest resources of the city also schedules for planting new trees; removing over-mature, damaged or diseased trees; and improving healthy trees by pruning for appearance and safety.

Lastly, Mr. Smith will prepare and implement a public relations program by issuing press releases and other information to the public, as well as acting as a consultant for private citizens concerning the care and maintenance of trees on their property.

The council last night voted the sum of $1,400 to finance Mr. Smith's management plan and $20 for trees to be given free to the public on Tree Day sponsored by the forestry commission.

The council also voted to include in the 1965-66 budget a sum equal to the amount to be spent on the forestry program this year, $2,500, to insure the continuation of the objectives outlined above.

The money to carry on the forestry program this year, last night was transferred from the city's contingency fund to the general fund.

The employment of Mr. Smith

SUNSET COMMITTEE

The structures subcommittee of the Sunset Committee will meet tomorrow afternoon at 3 p.m. in Normandy Inn.

Rear Admiral C. W. Fisher (USN Ret.), chairman of this subcommittee, says interested members of the public are invited to attend.

The subcommittee is concerned with the adaptation of existing buildings, also the possible construction of new buildings, on the Sunset School site after it becomes a city-owned cultural and community center.

Editor's Column

This week I am turning over the editor's column to Margaret Owings of Big Sur, a member of the California State Park Commission, because her letter to the Pine Cone so eloquently and earnestly asks for a YES vote on Proposition One on the November ballot, also graphically relates the need for an affirmative vote on this proposition to the Carmel area.

—M.L.

Editor,

The Carmel Pine Cone,

As a member of the California State Park Commission, I am deeply concerned with the passage of PROPOSITION ONE on the ballot, the state park bond issue. My job has taken me to all portions of the state visiting parks, viewing potential parks, studying inadequate recreational areas and watching with distress as disappointed crowds are turned away at park entrances. This past summer, the number of people turned away from state parks equalled the number accommodated.

We are fortunate to have the opportunity to vote for PROPOSITION ONE, which will not only preserve beautiful portions of our state but also will answer the recreational necessities that the 500,000 yearly population increase in California demands.

For those of us privileged to live in the Carmel area with its magnificent beaches, its pine forests and its rolling hills, the impact of the population explosion is just commencing.

Of the 1,000 miles of California's shoreline, the state owns but 150 miles. The crowded beaches in Southern California are only an indication of a situation Carmel may well be faced with unless the state can acquire more beaches up and down the coast.

As the crowds increase, what will the impact be on the Monterey Peninsula?

Supervisor Tom Hudson has commented that he does not favor more parks in his district because they will bring more visitors. What he underestimates is the fact that

They say that music has the power to soothe the savage beast. That's why we have it every hour throughout the day, at least. It greets us with the first grey light before we're half awake. I grate my grits with every bite, and syncopates my steak.

There's "Hello Dolly" in the stores — you can't escape the din — and through the doctor's office doors you hear from Irv Berlin. The television, radios, and toy transistors blare; and even where my lady goes to buy a dress or hat.

I seek the solitude of bed to ease my nerve's catarrh; but up to midnight hear instead the upstairs girl's guitar. I like, as well as any man, the tones of string and voice; but when and where and how I can — I ought to have a choice.

We need a law, it seems to me, (this should, to most make sense) — so nobody is forced to be a captive audience.

In his ninetieth year of life, Dell Henry Harthorn of Carmel decided to take a job and qualify for social security benefits. A year and a half later he is seen, at right above, signing the necessary papers to receive his first, also continuing, social security payments.

Oscar L. Donaldson, district manager of the Salinas-Monterey Social Security office, at left, says, "Mr. Harthorn is the oldest person to apply for benefits under social security since the Salinas-Monterey office has been open. He may well be one of the oldest in the nation ever to apply."

Mr. Donaldson came to Carmel this week to sign up Mr. Harthorn who had his ninety-first birthday last month.

Mr. Harthorn consented to his picture being taken, also this story, because he wants to encourage others to qualify for social security benefits, regardless of age.

The job Mr. Harthorn took in order to be eligible for social security coverage was at Carmel Cottages, a motel near his home, owned by Mr. and Mrs. John Zack.

Mrs. Zack says that during the past year and a half, Mr. Harthorn has spent an average of three hours a day watering the acre and a quarter garden surrounding the 20 cottages at the motel.

"There is a variety of flowers which need constant watering and Mr. Harthorn has been on the job every day, except for six days when he had a touch of flu and five days during which he drove to Los Angeles to visit his 71-year-old son," Mrs. Zack adds.

Mr. Harthorn was born in South Dakota on September 14, 1873. When he was ten years old he went with his family to live in Colorado where his father and uncle had bought a trading post in the Navajo Indian country.

At one time the trading post was attacked for five days by Ute Indians, Mr. Harthorn recalls.

FIGHT TONIGHT

Members of the Carmel Volunteer Fire Department will celebrate Fire Prevention Week tonight by rolling out a barrel and getting soaked... with water.

The annual water-fight between teams armed with fire hoses will take place at the intersection of San Carlos and Ocean at 8 p.m.

Fire Chief Robert E. Smith advises onlookers to wear raincoats, at least.

He also says that this year, for the first time, teen-agers will stage their own fight with the fire hoses and barrel. Thirteen members of the new fire science class at Carmel High School will be the teenage battlers.

Authority On China Will Discuss His Native Land Twice Sunday In Carmel

S. T. Tung, Ph.D., former president of the National Agricultural College of Peking and author of "Secret Diary from Red China," will speak here twice on Sunday. He will be the lay speaker at the Church in the Round at the 11 a.m. service. His topic, "Can there be two Chinas?" will reflect his experience during 15 months under Communist occupation augmented by subsequent reports from his native country through the Chinese Farmers' Association and the Chinese Peasants' Party, both of which he founded. The usual talkback will follow the church service at the American Legion Hall, Dolores and Ninth.

In the afternoon at 2 p.m. Dr. Tung will speak at Carmel Foundation Town House.

Dr. Tung is a consultant to the Committee for Free Asia, San Francisco, and has spoken before the Commonwealth Club section on Pacific Ocean Problems, also the World Affairs Institute of San Diego State College and Rotary Clubs and student organizations throughout California. He obtained his Ph.D. at Cornell University in 1924 and returned to China to teach agricultural economics in National Peiping Central and Szechuan Universities and to direct the Szechuan Agricultural Bureau. He was editor and publisher of "Modern Farmer" magazine, 1938-49. He escaped to the United States with his wife and children in 1950 and now lives in Berkeley.

Mrs. Tung, who will accompany her husband to Carmel, is an artist who has combined in an original way her training in Chinese art and her absorption of American techniques.

There will be a display of her paintings at the Church in the Round during the coffee period in the church service on Sunday, and the display will then be moved to Carmel Foundation Town House.

At 2 p.m., Dr. Tung will speak to the Town House world affairs discussion group.

Art News . . . .

A husband and wife, artists Victor De Gesu and Janet Ament, are displaying their paintings in the community room gallery of the Carmel Rancho shopping center. Both are longtime members of the Carmel Art Association.

As young art students, the pair attended the Chouinard and Jepson art institutes in Los Angeles. They later travelled to Europe where they studied at the Academie de la Grande Chaumiere in Paris, the Escuela de Belles Artes de San Jorge in Barcelona, also art schools in Rome. In Paris both worked with Andre l'Hote in his atelier. In Rome, Di Gesu studied under artist Carlo Socrate while his wife attended the Academy of Fine Arts. During their European years, the two were invited to show their work in Paris at the Louvre, the Exposition des Arts Decoratifs, the Galerie Charpentier, the Petit Palais and the Salon d'Automne (1954). In Rome both showed paintings at the Studio Hinna.

In California, their work has been exhibited in Los Angeles and San Francisco galleries; locally, since 1948, in the Carmel Art Association gallery. Janet Ament recently showed her paintings at the California State Fair.

The Carmel Rancho show, opened with an invitational preview party Saturday afternoon and will remain on view through October 18. Hours will be 9-12 a.m. and 1-4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday; 1-4:30 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

Entry blanks for "Monterey County Painting-1964" are available at the Peninsula chapter of the American Federation of Arts on Lincoln Street. Paintings will be received tomorrow and Saturday, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. This first annual competitive exhibition is to be shown in the A.F.A. Gallery from October 15 through November 10.

Judge of the entries will be Paul Mills, curator of the Oakland Art Museum, who will award three prizes of $300 each. In addition, one of the winners will be given a one-man show in the gallery next June. Prize money is being raised through contributions from individuals and firms who are interested in recognizing and encouraging the best painting being done in Monterey County.

Artists whose paintings are chosen will be honored at a "Meet the Artists Preview" to be held the evening before the exhibition goes on public view. Invitations will be sent to those who contribute $5.00 or more toward the prizes. For further information call A.F.A. headquarters, 624-2918.

Mrs. Jesse (June) Braucht, director-curator of the Monterey Peninsula chapter of the American Federation of Arts, represented this organization at the 41st annual meeting of the Western Association of Art Museums in San Francisco this week.

Hosted by the California Palace of the Legion of Honor, the M. H. de Young Memorial Museum of Art, the San Francisco Museum of Art and the Stanford University Art Museum, the group of museum directors from 20 states and Canada convened to hear reports on the design and construction of four West Coast museum projects now under way.

The annual San Juan Bautista Art Show will open on October 17 and run through October 25, according to the art show committee.

Three judges have been selected to pass on entries submitted. They are Ronald Benson, instructor at Foothill College, Los Altos; Joe Feuerborn of Carmel; and Ardeth Terrill Hughes of Salinas. The show is open to both professional and amateur artists in any media. Entries will be judged on October 11 to allow time for hanging before the opening date. An invitational preview and award-giving wine tasting party is scheduled for October 16.

The show will be hung in four galleries, La Bacacalle on Third Street, the Belasco on Washington, the Brewery on the Alameda and the Almaden Tasting Room adjoining the plaza of the State Historical Park. Prizes and awards will be given for first, second and third place in both categories.

Until October 29, paintings by Robert Watson are being shown at the Zantman Galleries on Sixth Avenue between Dolores and San Carlos streets.

Mr. Watson was born in California in 1923. He studied at the University of Wisconsin and University of California but had no formal art training except for eight weeks with Frederic Taubes. He brings into juxtaposition dream and reality to create absolute reality. His work has been widely exhibited nationally and internationally. Persons who have acquired his paintings for their private collections include Bennet

Cerf, Ed Sullivan, Norman Cousins and Mrs. Charles Babcock.

Over 45 Northern California artists have donated work to "Fine Arts For Fair Housing," a public auction. All proceeds from sales of the oil paintings, jewelry, sculpture and pottery will be used in the campaign to defeat Proposition 14 on the November ballot.

The auction will be held at Pogonip Country Club near Santa Cruz tomorrow evening starting at 7:30 p.m.

Artists known locally who have given their work for the auction include Helen Salz, Bruce Harris and Jean Varda.

Joseph Hysong, Monterey Peninsula College art instructor and a resident of Carmel, has received notice that two of his ceramic pieces have been accepted by the National Ceramics Exposition in Syracuse, New York.

The exposition is held every two years.

Letter To Editor

Editor,
Carmel Pine Cone
Dear Madam:

Our school, King City Joint Union High School, has many contacts with Carmel and a number of citizens of Carmel have attended many fine programs in the beautiful auditorium of the school. We have one of the best equipped auditoriums in Central California capable of handling a full Broadway company.

We are building our drama department steadily, and this year we are doing one of New York's finest comedies—"Best Foot Forward," a George Abbott production on Broadway—on December 4 and 5.

I have spent many summers in Carmel, and this year I resigned my position in the East to accept the chairmanship of the drama and speech department here in King City.

We will heartily appreciate your making known our new show in The Pine Cone.

Thank you for an informative and interesting newspaper. I am an avid subscriber.

Sincerely yours,
Fredrick Santon

P.S. We are purchasing a performance of "The Tempest" for our students in late October at which time we hope to be in Carmel.

Attend Opera

The Reverend H.M.M. Nicholas and Mrs. Nicholas, with the Walter deMartins of Carmel Highlands, attended the San Francisco opera on Friday evening. Stopping overnight at the Clift Hotel, the four enjoyed supper in the Redwood Room following the performance.

Noon, Noon & Snow Ltd. Declared Stars At Sunset

There is nothing in this world quite so cheering as the success of young people, especially when they are, more or less, our own.

Last Saturday evening, Noon, Noon and Snow Ltd., (but not much) singers and musicians, with a brand new trend all their own, performed at Sunset. The daring impresario and chairman of the event was Marian Fischer. Master of ceremonies was local radio disc jockey, Dave Bennett.

Lighting was the responsibility of William Ellis; makeup and hairstyles, Mel of Del Conte. These four had faith in the unique appeal of the three young artists.

The reward? The main floor of Sunset auditorium was packed to capacity. The overflow of teenagers took to the balcony. The audience clapped, stamped, rose to their feet and whistled! Noon, Noon and Snow were declared Stars!

Nancy Noon, former campus queen of the University of Washington, was billed in advance of the concert as a singer. She certainly is that, she is also a zany, very funny actress! Her brother, Mike, drawled and sang his own dreamed-up songs as he strummed his banjo. His original satires on political personalities drew roars of laughter.

Kit Snow, an entertainer who has already won wide popularity on the Monterey Peninsula as "the guitarist who warbles" stopped the show with his original version of "Blue."

In fact, the "show stoppers" presented by this refreshing young trio were too numerous to list. Nancy in her lovely blue chiffon dress, cavorted with the two boys through "Coney Island." Nancy, formal and beautiful in jonquil yellow, gave her own throbbing interpretation of "Bill Bailey."

All three sang their theme song "It Might've Been Worse." Noon, Noon and Snow, using both folk and ragtime material, term themselves "fun singers." They are!

Following Saturday night's program there was a reception for all those who helped in the presentation, plus press and radio. It was a wonderful party, held in the American Legion Hall.

Plans are already in the making for another evening with Noon, Noon and Snow. In the meantime, Kit Snow may be heard and seen

Senator Fred Farr's Oceanography Plank

The platform of the Democratic Party, adopted at the National Convention in Atlantic City, contains a plank authored by Senator Fred Farr (D-Carmel).

Under the heading, "The Nation's Natural Resources," the Democrats pledge to "unlock the resources of the sea through a strong oceanography program."

"I was delighted when the National Convention adopted this plank," says Senator Farr. "The sea is a region of our environment about which we know very little; its resources are literally untapped. This is the first time a major political party has pledged itself to the development of a strong oceanography program."

Mrs. Woodward

Mrs. Dorothy M. Woodward, one of Carmel's widely known residents in the 1920s and early 30s and the mother of Mrs. Malcolm Jones of Carmel, died on October 3 in Pasadena where she has lived for the past 30 years.

Residing first in Pebble Beach, Mrs. Woodward, with her husband the late Raymond Woodward, later moved into Carmel. The Woodwards' home here was a studio? dwelling on Dolores street, now part of the present Carmel Art Association Galleries.

A musician and active in the community's musical life, Mrs. Woodward was a charter member of the Carmel Music Society.

In addition to Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Woodward is survived by a son, Austin Woodward of Redondo Beach; a daughter, Mrs. Donald Dawson of Manhattan Beach; and 10 grandchildren.

Memorial services were held on Tuesday in Pasadena. Friends wishing to make contributions in memory of Mrs. Woodward may do so in the form of donations to the Monterey County Heart Association.

Mayor Comments On Anti-Annexation Misinformation

At the end of the city council meeting last night, Mayor Herbert Blanks remarked on letters against annexation being sent to residents of the areas which have asked to join the city.

He observed that these letters contained statements on matters that could only be determined by city council action. For example, statements to the effect that Carmel plans to build two new fire stations and a police substation, are not based on fact. No such recommendations have been made by the council, or can be made, until such matters are properly brought before the city council.

"There is no coy withholding of plans," Councilman Eben Whittlesey added.

"I'd like to know when I'm going to get my first police station," Police Chief Clyde Klummann declared.

A letter is being circulated by the Carmel Point Service Area No. 1 Anti-Annexation Committee. Co-chairmen of this group are Claude P. Kimball and Lucille Lannestock. Other members are Mrs. Eleanor D. Ross, Stephen Kahn, Mrs. Frederick C. Dorr, Wilfred Randolph, John Walsh and E. von Schramm.

This letter does not refer to the matters mentioned by Mayor Blanks but deals mostly with added taxation should Carmel Point be annexed to the city and the possibility of discontinuance of mail delivery to the Point. The possible prorating of bonded indebtedness and cost of any city improvements is suggested.

Roxie Jensen

Mrs. Roxie Alberta Jensen died on Tuesday. Her death due to a heart attack, was sudden and unexpected.

A resident of Carmel for 26 years, Mrs. Jensen was born in Selma, May 27, 1907.

In 1941, with her mother, the late Mrs. Bessie Claytor, and her sister Mrs. Amelia Welchel, Mrs. Jensen opened the Carmel Delicatessen and Snack Bar. Through two decades Carmelites met there for breakfast, luncheon, snacks, and dinner. Everyone knew "Roxie" and her smile.

Last September, Mrs. Jensen sold the Snack Bar on Ocean Avenue and, semi-retired, became assistant manager at the Hacienda Carmel in Carmel Valley. She made her home at Cabrillo and Pico Streets.

Mrs. Jensen is survived by two sons, James Jensen of Saratoga and Robert Jensen of Hollywood; her sister, Mrs. Welchel; a brother, Grover Claytor of Santa Rosa, and numerous nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 10 a.m. in All Saints' Episcopal Church, with the Reverend David Hill officiating. Burial will take place in Cementerio El Encinal.

The Dorney and Farlinger Memorial Chapel is in charge of arrangements.

RESPLENDENT CHS BAND

On Saturday afternoon the Carmel High School Band will appear for the first time in Carmel in the new uniforms provided by community enterprise. The occasion will be the first home game of the football season.

The resplendent band will be led by a new drum major, Wayne Hallstrom. Debbie Schwab and Sandra Updike will be the baton-twirling majorettes this year.

During half-time activities at the Carmel-King City game, there will be a Bandwagon Review of the persons and organizations that made the purchase of the new uniforms possible. Part of these ceremonies will be the presentation of a check for $1,500 by the Carmel Rotary Club.

Last Saturday the Carmel High band was one of 60 bands which participated in Cal Band Day on the Berkeley campus of the University of California.

This was a rewarding experience and the ensemble playing of the massed bands was particularly fine this year, reports John Farr, bandmaster.

MPVS OFFICERS

A slate of officers for the coming year was presented to the Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Services membership at a meeting on October 2. At the same meeting donations to three organizations were approved.

Officers for the coming year presented by Mrs. S. Y. Cutler, chairman of the nominating committee, were Miss Ruth Blanchard, president; Mrs. Laurids Jorgensen, vice-president; Mrs. Howard D. Dabney, treasurer; Mrs. Mary Thomas, corresponding secretary; Miss Irene Palmer, recording secretary.

In addition to Mrs. Cutler, members of the nominating committee were Mrs. Arthur Black, Miss Marion Eley, Mrs. Lawrence Kinsler and Mrs. James Underhill. The new nominating committee will consist of Mrs. L. K. Purcell, Mrs. Ethel Gilliland, Mrs. Earl M. Oren and Mrs. J. B. Farrior, also Mrs. James Underhill as a carryover.

The membership approved gifts of $100 each to the Seaside Council Service Organizations to provide a Thanksgiving dinner for senior citizens; the activities center of the Boy Scouts; and the Monterey County Tuberculosis and Health Association.

NO NEWS OF AL FRY

As the Carmel Pine Cone goes to press, the Monterey County Sheriff's Office reports "Still no news upon the disappearance of Alfred G. Fry, owner of the Carmel Valley Inn and resident of the Monterey Peninsula Country Club, who disappeared last week."

While Mr. Fry is listed officially as a missing person, his wife believes that he is somewhere in the Tahoe-Reno area, not within reach of a telephone and unaware that he is being searched for.

Bordens vs. Trees, A Council Dilemma

The Borden driveway versus city trees problem was resolved by the city council last night after an hour's discussion and two and a half hours of patient waiting by Don and Anne Borden.

On its tree tour Tuesday, the council hesitated about allowing the Bordens to cut two trees for a driveway off Crespi Avenue to the former Shuster house in the Eighty Acres. Perhaps the driveway could go diagonally across the city sidewalk between trees, the council thought. They postponed any decision until they could consult with the city attorney last night.

By the time the Bordens received permission for a straight driveway and to cut down two trees when they have begun construction of a garage, Superintendent of Public Works Bill Askew was "confused". City Attorney John Morse had perused two ordinances, skimmed a third, while the council considered other matters on the agenda and City Clerk Hugh Bayless had contributed a blackboard diagram. Mr. Morse finally advised in favor of the Bordens and the council granted the tree-cutting permission with Councilman Eben Whittlesey voting No.

Roderick Clark

Death came unexpectedly to Roderick Dhu Clark of Carmel yesterday morning. A resident of Carmel Point for the past seven years, Mr. Clark had been in ill health for some time, but death was unexpected.

A native of Pipestone, Minnesota, Mr. Clark was associated with the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company in Chicago for 30 years, retiring in 1954.

He was a veteran of World War I, serving in France with the U.S. Air Force. He also served during World War II in the Coast Guard Reserve.

He was a member of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Carmel.

Mr. Clark is survived by his wife, Evelyn C. Clark; two daughters, Mrs. J. Douglas Pinkham of Cobham, Surrey, England; and Miss Heather Clark of Alamo; and a son Ray C. Clark of Amarillo, Texas. Also a sister, Mrs. Thomas H. Wilson of Seattle, Washington, and five grandsons.

Private family services were held in the Little-Chapel-by-the-Sea. The Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

Friends wishing to make contributions in memory of Mr. Clark may do so to the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Carmel.

COUNCIL TREE TOUR

Seven items were considered by the city council Tuesday on their monthly tree tour meeting.

The P.G. and E. Company was allowed to trim trees at Ocean and Casanova and Second and Camino Del Monte, also install a power pole on Fifth between Santa Rita and Santa Fe.

The council approved cutting a damaged tree on Dolores near third and the construction by Joseph Wythe of two driveway bridges at the same location.

Tree removals requested by Edward H. Rose and John E. Glaze on Dolores between Thirteenth and Santa Lucia were denied.

If you think we fight progress in Carmel nowadays, take a look at Daisy Bostick's account, printed below, of the early-days battle over the paving of Ocean Avenue. And Daisy was right in the midst of it. This is no second-hand report.

It seems newcomers to the town were "attached to modern ideas such as road paving." The original artistic element in the village bitterly opposed it. They preferred dust in summer and mud in winter to unnatural paving. We'll let Daisy take it from here.

"The split grew. You were for paving or against it. And the Art versus Progress battle was on. The climax came when an election was held to vote on bonds for the paving of the main street, Ocean Avenue."

"The art element lost by a squeak and brought suit to declare the election invalid.

"A county judge was to decide on its legality and the day of decision arrived. The merchants closed their doors, artists put aside their canvases, authors covered typewriters and housewives turned off their oil stoves. Each side marshalled its forces and they traveled the 25 miles to Salinas, the county seat, to attend the hearing.

"The session lasted all day. The best lawyers in the district were hired by the opposing sides. Argyll Campbell, attorney for the artists, called to the stand Carmel's one-man police force, Marshal August Englund, a good solid Swede and a terror to law-breakers. Gus did his policing on horseback and it was he who had posted the notices of the election.

"Gus confessed that he had tacked the notices on trees while seated on his horse, Billy, thus making it impossible for pedestrians to read them. When he was asked by Campbell how he had measured the distances between the notices as the law specified, he said,

"I yooost counted Billy's steps." "At this the artists hooted and the paving enthusiasts looked downcast and groaned. The judge pounded for order.

"Ocean Avenue had been frequently mentioned, for that street was the bone of contention. At the close of the day's session the judge rubbed his eyes and said plaintively,

"Will someone tell me what and where is Ocean Avenue?"

"In a few days the judge made public his decision. The election was declared not valid. The militant artists had won.

"That night there was much rejoicing in the studios. Carmel was a dry town but much red wine found its way from Monterey and was consumed while quatrains of George Sterling's famous "Song of the Abalone" rang through the woods to an accompaniment of table pounding.

"Then came a sad day. The celebration had been premature.

"The town council passed an ordinance without calling for an election. The paving was laid. This marked the end of an era and the beginning of another. With the roads made passible for cars, hordes of curious tourists began to appear and Carmel was never again the same."

GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Guests arriving yesterday evening to congratulate Mr. and Mrs. Robert Anthony Lawson, above, on their fiftieth wedding anniversary walked between golden chrysanthemums growing in pots placed on each side of the path leading from the gate to the house. Chrysanthemums in tones of gold also decorated the reception table covered with a gold satin cloth and lighted with gold tapers in crystal candelabra. Similar golden-hued blossoms were arranged, too, about the living room where Mr. and Mrs. Lawson greeted their friends.

The party in honor of their 50 years of married life was given for them by their daughter, Mrs. Roy Chanslor.

The former Joy Raiford of Monterey was married to Robert Lawson of Pacific Grove on October 17, 1914. The young couple went to Hollister to be married by a clergyman who had been a friend of Mr. Lawson's in Pacific Grove. Their first home was in Monterey where Mrs. Lawson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Biddleman Raiford, came with their two daughters in 1907, and lived in the Stevenson House, then a hotel, until they found a permanent home.

Mr. Lawson's father, an engineer with the Southern Pacific Railroad, brought his family to live in Pacific Grove in 1900. His wife, the former Guadalupe Peralta Glotzbach was a direct descendant of General Don Jose Peralta, owner of a Spanish land grant near Oakland.

Yesterday evening, Mrs. Lawson received friends wearing a black dress and a cymbidium orchid corsage. Guests from out of town included Mrs. Lawson's sister, Mrs. Roy Frates of Salinas, and Mr. Lawson's nephew, Charles Rector of Whittier, and Mrs. Rector.

Robert Hoffman New President Of Seniors Club

The Carmel Seniors Club elected new officers at its annual meeting in Pine Inn on October 1. Robert Hoffman is the new president of the organization. Fred Phillips and James Lawson are, respectively, first and second vice presidents. Walter Brook is secretary-treasurer. New directors are Richard Goodspeed, Rolf Evans, Charles Biery, Robert Spencer and Don Neher.

Mr. Neher also was awarded a trophy for winning the club's shuffleboard championship for the current year. Walter Brook, runner-up, received a trophy, too.

The shuffleboard contest this year was a tight one. Only two games separated the winner, runner-up and third position and a tie had to be played to decide who would place third.

Guests of the 29 members of the club at the annual meeting were Vice Mayor James C. Buffington Jr. and City Clerk Hugh Bayless. Mr. Buffington spoke to the membership and President Hoffman responded.

The Carmel Seniors Club invites all residents of this vicinity to join its activities. In Forest Hill Park, at Second and Junipero streets, the club has shuffleboard and horseshoe courts, also a putting green.

Mrs. Ruster Needs More Community Chest Volunteers

—Mrs. John Ruster, chairman of the Community Chest's residential campaign in Carmel, reports enthusiasm among the volunteer captains, who are so generously contributing their time and talents in the job of recruiting workers. However, Carmel still needs volunteers for some blocks.

"It just isn't possible to personally reach everyone who wants to help. Anyone who has not been called and who wishes to contribute a few hours of his or her time to this community service can volunteer by calling me at 624-7456," Mrs. Ruster requests.

The general residential solicitation began Tuesday.

Proposition 14 Benefit Concert

Blues singer, Barbara Dane, will make her farewell appearance in California on Saturday evening in Pacific Grove High School auditorium at 8:30.

Sharing the program with the renowned singer will be folksinger, Dewie Dutton, daughter of Mrs. Webster Street of Carmel and a Monterey Peninsula College student. Miss Dutton was "discovered" as young and promising talent during the recent folk festival on the Peninsula.

A large percentage of Saturday evening's ticket sale will benefit the local California Committee Against Proposition 14, Richard Osborne and Howard Seay, co-chairmen.

One of the highlights of the fall season for the Monterey County Christian Women's Club, will be the annual men's night dinner at the Corral de Tierra Country Club on October 13 at 7:30 p.m. Guest speaker for the evening is Norman Nelson (above), an outstanding American tenor who will also provide the special music.

Mr. Nelson was soloist last year for President John F. Kennedy at the Presidential Prayer Breakfast in Washington, D.C. and just recently has returned from an extensive missionary concert tour of the Far East.

The public is invited to attend and may reserve tickets by calling Mrs. Donald Hardy 372-8973.

yearning mother, is happily cast and gives her usual fine performance.

A third teen-ager, appearing before the footlights for the first time, and making the most of his all-too-brief characterization, was young Jeff Olinger as the messenger boy whose bit part was essential to the drama's happy ending.

And finally, Madeleine Hicks! The First Theatre's character actress through more than 60 productions, Madeleine is a must for a First Theatre audience as well as for Director Al Olinger and early American drama. A professional actress on Broadway for many years, Mrs. Hicks invariably brings polish and reality to her varied roles. As Mother Murphy in "Rags to Riches," her performance is tops.

The splendid cast of "Rags to Riches" was supported by stage sets, that, if not brand new certainly had a fresh bright look which must be credited to Al Olinger, also to Kay Knudsen, responsible for the subtle lighting. Costumer Rhoda Johnson's turn of the century costumes in both play and olio were authentic and colorful.

The vaudeville (nine acts in olio) that followed the play was a distinct departure from the usual. Outstanding were Nick Le Feuvre's "Reluctant Dragon"; Leon Howard's distinguished folk singing; Sid Frohman's "Puzzled Latin Lover," and the male members of the Troupers of the Gold Coast singing "Lydia, the Tattooed Lady."

For an evening of splendidly produced and acted American melodrama and a rousing good time, we highly recommend the current fare at the First Theatre.

—Carolyn Elstob

"Rags To Riches" Refreshing Melodrama At First Theatre

"Rags to Riches" opened at the historic First Theatre in Monterey on Friday evening. The pattern of the play—dastardly deeds and virtue victorious—was familiar to this reviewer, a "regular" in the audience for the past 17 years.

On Friday night the cast, the sets, the play itself, and the acts in olio, all seemed exciting, new and refreshing. Tireless and certainly dedicated to his theatre, manager-director Al Olinger has indeed gathered together a fine assortment of acting talent, for the most part new to the First Theatre.

From the moment handsome, suave Nick Le Feuvre Jr., resplendent in his scarlet coat, in the role of master of ceremonies, greeted the audience, the evening's entertainment was off to a flying start.

As Prince Charlie in "Rags to Riches," the devilish betrayer of innocence, Mr. Le Feuvre's years of professional experience were indeed evident. His theatrical training started at the age of ten years, and his career has included stage design as well as acting in T.V. and little theatre. As the M.C. throughout the evening, as well as leading man in the thriller, Nick is making his first appearance on the First Theatre stage. It is to be hoped he will be seen in many productions to come.

There were other newcomers in the cast. Playing opposite the scoundrel, Charlie, was pretty, pert little Terry Leach, teen-age high school student. Her poise and pacing of the role that kept her almost constantly on stage were a delight.

Sid Frohman, new, too, to the First Theatre, went through his role of the down-and-out drunk, finally, happily reformed, with professional ease.

Lou Hansen, recruited by Mr. Olinger, from the Defense Language School, was a grand copy-broque and all. He won wild applause and audible encouragement from the enthralled audience. Coming from Ohio State University where he appeared in a highly varied repertoire of little theater productions, Mr. Hansen was obviously "at home" behind the footlights as the stern arm of the law and ardent lover of the heroine.

We found young Steve Robertson, Pacific Grove High School student, particularly endearing as the courageous young brother of the heroine. Curly-haired and handsome, he brought boyish enthusiasm and conviction to his role that was delightfully refreshing.

In the dual roles of Slade, owner of the lowest dive in the Bowery of New York, and of Old Montgomery, bent upon righting many wrongs, Jim Dooley, a First Theatre "regular," again exhibited his versatility.

Doris Cameron, who earned laurels in the First Theatre's production of "The Road to Frisco," won well-earned hisses from the audience as the thoroughly depraved Myrtle Bradley, an adventuress without heart.

After a year's absence, Mitzi Dallas, as the deserted wife and

The Sur Coast

By ELIZABETH FULLER JONES

REPRODUCE BIG SUR IN PARIS

They've all gone away, to Paris, via Hollywood—Elizabeth Taylor, Richard Burton, cast and crew, cameramen and props—and they have taken at least two part-time residents of Big Sur with them. Eduardo Tierella, artist, interior designer and decorator, who spends many months each year at his home in Big Sur, is already in the Parisian capital working on the interior "sets" of the now well-known Doud Beach "shack," the Coast Gallery in Big Sur and other interiors which are a part of the widely publicized M-G-M production, "The Sandpiper," which has been filmed along the spectacular Big Sur and Carmel Coast during the past month. Martin Ransohoff, producer of the film, is another part-time resident of Big Sur who is on the way to Paris. Simultaneously with the completion of the filming of the movie here, Mr. Ransohoff's weekend vacation home, designed by Architects, Burde, Shaw & Associates of Carmel, was completed here on a magnificent site overlooking the sea and the beautiful coastal mountains.

Among the "props" enroute to France, are a number of selections of works of art from the Coast Gallery—each one the creative work of a Big Sur artist. In "The Sandpiper," Richard Burton visits the Coast Gallery, where filming was done of the entrance, terraces and the exterior of the charming structure. The interior of the gallery, located on the second level, is being reproduced in a Paris studio, and it will be "hung" with original works of the Big Sur artists. Certain artistic license will be taken in the reproduction of the gallery scenes, but only that of the addition of a circular staircase leading from the reception area to the upper floor. "I've always thought that would be lovely to have," said Mrs. LaVerne Allen, curator of the Coast Gallery, "and now I shall see it in 'The Sandpiper.'"

HARTMAN'S VACATION AT ANZA-BORREGO

Camping and hiking in the Anza-Borrego Desert State Park situated in San Diego and Imperial counties, was a delightful part of a recent vacation trip taken by Mr. and Mrs. Ted Hartman and daughters Maya, Leigh and Carol of Big Sur. Also included in the Hartman's Southern California visit were happy hours at Disneyland, Marineland, Knott's Berry Farm and Balboa Park and Zoo in San Diego.

"We had promised the children TV and swimming pools," said Mrs. Hartman, "so we stopped at motels in the cities that provided both of these luxuries."

In the Anza-Borrego Desert State Park, which is the largest State Park in California, covering close to 500,000 acres, the Hartman family had opportunity to discover and enjoy the great beauty, the grandeur and the pleasant warmth of the desert country. Too, they had the pleasure of visiting their friends Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lonnecker, former residents of Big Sur. Mr. Lonnecker, a member of the state park service, was station-whose children are in attendance at Captain Cooper. All of these parents are invited, and urged, to join the Parents Club, and take part in its school-community projects. The regular meeting is tonight at 8:00 o'clock in the Big Sur Grange Hall. Meetings are held the second Thursday of each month during the school year.

Among the club-sponsored projects is the kindergarten for very young children (pre-school age) which meets two afternoons each week and is conducted by Mrs. Branson and Mrs. LaVon Curtis.

At Halloween, the club cooperates with the school in providing wholesome activity and fun on that special night.

In recent weeks the Captain Cooper School has received a fine collection of library books from the Carmel Unified School District. Club member Mrs. Bette Sommerville is now in process of cataloging and arranging these much appreciated volumes, for ready reference and use of school members.

The largest project of the year is the Community Christmas Program which is a cooperative effort of the Big Sur Grange and the Parents Club. Throughout the year members of both of these groups give of their ideas, their time, and design and create, handsome, useful articles that are shared at this looked forward to, annual, all-community event.

Winter Program At Valley Theatre

In addition to classes in ballet and contemporary dance for all ages, Carmel Valley's White Oaks Theatre will offer fencing instruction for adults and children and a workshop in acting for teenagers in its 27-week winter program.

Miss Angene Feves again will be ballet mistress and head of the theatre training program. Miss Eleanor Stoltz will be in charge of the teen-age workshop. Christopher Milo will be the fencing master.

Registration for all classes will be tomorrow and Saturday, 2-5 p.m., in the new White Oaks Theatre building on Carmel Valley Road next to the Tennis Ranch. Further information may be obtained by telephoning 659-2248. Instruction will begin on Monday and continue until May 1.

Virginia Stanton To Speak At Conference

"Entertaining with a Flair" presented by Mrs. Robert Stanton, party editor of House Beautiful magazine, will highlight the annual conference of North Central Coast Homemaking Teachers Saturday at Pacific Grove High School.

Author of the recent book "House Beautiful Guide to Successful Entertaining," Virginia Stanton, a resident of Carmel Valley, is a specialist in planning and serving creative foods, staged in imaginatively decorated settings.

"Hospitality is an extension of your personality and personal effort is the very heart of hospitality," Mrs. Stanton believes. "The art of giving a good party is compounded of little things that most people overlook," she points out.

Beginning at 10:30 a.m., following registration and coffee Mrs. Stanton will disclose her formulas for entertaining. Luncheon at 12:45 will be served at Highlands Inn.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg

Any librarian hates, really hates, to be always harping on the stealing which goes on in libraries. But—unless a library has funds and staff enough to check everyone who goes out the doors—stealing goes on, and on, and on. And besides the lack of staff and funds, you never make friends and influence people by searching them as they leave. For some reason, the honest patron gets furious. The beginning of school saw our new Spanish dictionary take wings. Wouldn't you think that a student using a plastic-covered-owner-library-stamped dictionary would be noticed by either his teacher or his parents? Not so far!

Once upon a happy time this library had three copies of THE WOMEN OF POINT SUR, but recent checking revealed that all three had disappeared. Some time ago this librarian started to try to obtain a copy, but without success. Comes now our plea, if you have a copy of Robinson Jeffers book THE WOMEN OF POINT SUR, will you donate it to the library so that we may lock it away for generations yet to come to read in the library? If we find a copy, nobody gets to take it out, but nobody!

The library has subscribed to the new magazine called FACT. And a kind patron is giving us a subscription to another literary magazine, this one called RAM-PARTS. We take them to see if you enjoy them and if they are not popular we shall discontinue them. Limited space, and all that sort of thing!

We have this week the new book jacket of this novel to find them listed with the action time of each book.

A novel by Kazantzakis has recently been published although it was actually written in 1929. It is entitled TODA RABA. This is a story of Russia after the Civil War, a Russia of turmoil and danger, of fanatical acts and of death.

Our copy of the REMINISCENCES of General Douglas MacArthur goes into circulation this week. This is a great book, illustrated with superb photographs, the whole story of our most decorated military hero.

A SINGLE MAN is a small book by Christopher Isherwood. The reader follows a single man entirely through a single day of his middle-aged life. His actions, his thoughts, his emotions, are all clearly revealed.

Some years ago Pierre van Paassen wrote a book entitled THE DAYS OF OUR YEARS and now we have his sequel called TO NUMBER OUR DAYS. Another large rewarding book of memories from all over the world. Do not miss this one.

Home From Europe

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Williams (Virginia Streeton), home from Europe (their marriage took place August 17 in Copenhagen) have been busy since their arrival with "welcome home" parties; entertainment in their own home; and getting children settled in school.

Mrs. John Monning, Virginia's sister from Pasadena, has been their houseguest.

The Reverend H.M.M. Nicholas and Mrs. Nicholas entertained at dinner for the newlywed Williamses last week. The guests included the Reverend Harvey Buck of St. Mary's-by-the-Sea Episcopal Church, Pacific Grove, Mrs. Buck, and the church's new curate, the Reverend Richard Thompson, and Mrs. Thompson.

Mrs. Richard G. Thomas entertained informally at the morning coffee hour, in her Rio Vista home on Friday, for Virginia.

"Getting the four children off to school was our first whirl," Mrs. Williams said. "Peggy, the baby, is now a student at the Episcopal Church (Bishop Kip) Day School; Eric and Tania are attending Carmel Junior High School; Bobbie is at Carmel High School; and Kathy, very much the young lady now, is, she reports, 'blissfully happy,' at the University of California, Santa Barbara."

New Arrivals

Mary Jean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick William Upham, arrived September 20, weighing seven pounds one ounce. She was greeted by her two sisters, Deborah Jean and Diane Marie and one brother, David Frederick. Arriving from Detroit, Michigan, to add their welcome were Mary Jean's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Whittlesey.

A son, and their first child, Benjamin Chandler, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Dale Wayne Junta of Pebble Beach, on September 24, weighing seven pounds, ten ounces. Here, from Berkeley to greet Benjamin, were his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Chandler Ide of Berkeley. Mr. Ide returned to Berkeley early this week, while Mrs. Ide is prolonging her visit, "to help with the new baby."

'Never Be Dull'

Dramatically gowned in a floor-length black sheath bordered in tailless ermine, her dark curling hair held close in an ermine cloche, Dr. Cleo Dawson, psychologist, novelist and teacher, addressed Carmel Woman's Club members, who crowded the club house to capacity, on Monday afternoon.

Dr. Dawson's topic was "The Achievement of Happiness" and the ladies of the club listened to her sometimes startling, often humorous, and at all times profound advice, with mixed emotions, reflected in their scattered laughter, bemused expressions and frequent gasps.

Introduced by Mrs. Rhea Diveley, the beautiful, dynamic, erudite, also cosmopolitan Mrs. Dawson, an ardent feminist, often quoted biblical scripture. She advised her listeners, "This is the day the Lord hath made: use every moment of every day searching for happiness . . . ignore or defeat the dangers of temper and hatred."

Dr. Dawson did say however, that these emotions were quite natural . . . ladies just have to cope with them as bad emotional habits.

She concluded her address with three rules for successful living. (1) In marriage, quit measuring life and love! (2) Never, never criticize your husband! (3) Never be dull!"

Carmel Visitor

Mrs. Elizabeth Stickney of Whittier has been visiting her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Fenner Stickney, III, in the young Stickney's new home.

UOP Freshman

Dr. and Mrs. Robert E. Cater of Pebble Beach have just returned from a visit to their son, Robert, a freshman on the campus of Raymond College, University of the Pacific, at Stockton.

Robert, who graduated from Carmel High School in June '64, is one of 77 freshmen at Raymond College, now in its third year of operation, and the first "cluster" college established by the University.

The college has a three-year program of liberal arts study and is operated on the tutorial system used at Oxford and Cambridge. All professors and instructors live on campus and are immediately accessible to the students.

Dr. Cater is a member of the executive committee of University of the Pacific Parents and attended an executive committee of University of the Pacific Parents and attended an executive committee on Sunday afternoon at the university. Robert is studying languages, the humanities and history.

His parents are looking forward to attending the university's Parent Day, October 24.

Hospital Auxiliary Meets

Mrs. Howell Armor, Mrs. Gerald Keith and Mrs. Hans von Richter were awarded pins denoting 1,000 hours of service at the first general meeting of the Community Hospital Auxiliary on Monday morning at the Mark Thomas Inn. Dr. Donald Turner, president of the hospital's medical staff, was the guest speaker.

Introduced to the membership were the auxiliary's board of directors for this year.

Auxiliary board members are Mrs. William Byrnes, president; Mrs. Luke Shields, 1st vice-president; Mrs. Richard Bower, 2nd vice-president; Mrs. Merrill Passey, 3rd vice-president; Mrs. Charles French, treasurer; Mrs. Reuben Pearson, secretary; Mrs. Gerald Keith, associate membership; Mrs. Raymond Perez, nominating committee; Mrs. Rollo Payne, parliamentarian; Mrs. Robert Brown, past president; Mrs. Victor Dee, Pink Pulse; Miss Eleanor Ziel, public relations; Mrs. Ralph Thompson, Candy Strippers; Mrs. Elmer Stoll, evening service; Mrs. George Nelson, library service; Mrs. Francis Sparolini, auxiliary office; Mrs. Harold Isaacson, reception desk; Mrs. William Hohnemann, snack bar; Mrs. James Parks, special services; Mrs. Lloyd Thayer, transportation.

Mother Campaigns

Mrs. Jerome Carlson is busy here in her home town and elsewhere in California working for the election of her son, Pierre Salinger, to the U.S. Senate.

Last week-end, accompanied by Mrs. Lionel (Ann) Alanson, chairman of the Northern California women's division of the Democratic campaign, Mrs. Carlson went to Willits to be the main speaker on behalf of Senator Salinger at a large women's meeting. She had a brief visit with him in San Francisco at the dinner for Senator Hubert Humphrey in the Fairmont Hotel attended by 900 persons—and was introduced to the gathering.

Tomorrow, Mrs. Carlson will assist Dr. and Mrs. Scott Heath at the cocktail party the Heaths are giving on behalf of Senator Salinger's campaign. Two friends of the Senator, Eugene Burdick and William Lederer, authors of "The Ugly American," are coming to Carmel for this party.

On Monday, Mrs. Carlson will go to Sacramento to address a women's meeting for her son. Then, on October 16, she will be present at a breakfast which Senator Salinger will attend at the Casa Munras in Monterey. This breakfast is open to the public and tickets may be obtained at the hotel, Mrs. Carlson says.

Awarded OFA

The Institute of Chartered Financial Analysts located in the graduate school of business administration at the University of Virginia, has announced the awards of chartered financial analyst designations to 172 men and seven women in the United States and Canada. Included in this group was Arthur L. Dahl of Pebble Beach who is a partner in the investment counsel firm of Turrell and Dahl which maintains offices in San Francisco and Carmel. The institute, sponsored by Financial Analysts Federation, seeks to promote professional standards among persons who analyze stocks and bonds for purposes of investment by awarding the CFA designation to those who have passed three examinations.

Brunns' Trip East

Returned from a whirlwind of visiting, sightseeing and shopping on the east coast, Courtney and Howard Brunn brought news of ex-Carmelites they saw there.

"We registered at the Plaza in New York," Courtney said, "and spent the first six days looking at, and buying, fashions for our two Mark Fenwick Shops, but the remaining 14 days were devoted entirely to seeing new sights and old friends."

"Dr. Frank Palmer turned over his beautiful apartment facing the Hudson River, to us. We went to the fair of course, and night-clubbed into the small hours. A really wonderful jaunt was to Long Island to visit Jim and Caroline Tyson. They own extensive property near South Hampton, and, using weathered lumber and timber, they are building fascinating houses . . . definitely Carmel influence."

After a weekend at South Hampton, the Brunns joined Audrey and Bob Talbot in the city and the four drove through Pennsylvania.

Enroute to Carmel, Howard and Courtney stopped in Minneapolis where, as the special guests of Sir Tyrone Guthrie, they attended a performance of Ben Johnson's "Volpone" in Guthrie's Festival Theatre there. A member of Carmel's Festival Theatre committee, Howard found the production in Minneapolis, "an unforgettable experience of great drama in a great theatre."

First Visit To Carmel

Mrs. Jean Ireland McGill is entertaining her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Wolfgang Kohz of New York City and Reno, Nevada. On their first visit to California, Mr. and Mrs. Kohz are particularly impressed with the

ON and OFF the AVENUES

BY CAROLYN ELSTOB

Dolls, diamonds, a bit of Irish, direct import, and—cognac—sounds like high life in the wicked, wicked city. But no! I found it all, right here. And if any puzzled man wants to know the answer to what makes a girl's life complete, follow me. Just to make it more intriguing, start off in high spirits.

X X X
Cognac! It just arrived!! In fact Courtney Brunn, the all out owner-stylist of The Mark Fenwick Shops, brought it back from New York in her suit case. Nobody stopped her, but I'll bet she paid overweight/at the airport.

It is horizontally quilted, with frog closings, has a military feeling, narrow, slim as an arrow; and the warm heart-cheering color of the finest spirits in the world. It's vedy "Chicerno"—It's a Coat of softest suede, satin lined, with hand tailored detail! It's pictured in Vogue, but have yourself more fun, toddle to the Plaza, see it, touch it—then pour it into your car. It's the grandest lifter for her spirits I've ever seen. And! the suits I saw there!! Triumphs of a mixologist . . . Jackets of brushed mohair or velvet, skirts—stitched pleats, A-line or straight, in bold check, herringbone, or Donegal tweeds, and beautiful, beautiful blouses that go with. All three pieces are in marvelous color contrasts. Charcoal velvet jacket, heavenly blue blouse, blue-grey tweed skirt. Orange flip color jacket, gold color blouse, black white houndstooth tweed skirt. This goes on and on, but you get the idea. To keep you in high spirits and high fashions—THE MARK FENWICK SHOPS, CARMEL PLAZA and STEVENS CREEK PLAZA in SANTA CLARA.

X X X
Centuries before a bright spirit thought up the line, "Diamonds are a girl's best friend"—wise men and luscious ladies knew it. But, the amazing fact remains that even the wisest investors in the world's most precious jewels are sadly uneducated in recognizing their quality. Appraising diamonds is a highly professional job. It demands not only study, but integrity. In Carmel, for the very first time, so far as I can learn, we have a certified gemologist. Henri Corbat, internationally known watchmaker, is a graduate of the Gemologist Institute of America, and an expert in appraisal. I was fascinated when he told me, there in his beautiful Swiss Shop, of the responsibilities his knowledge entails. For you, who carry insurance on your diamonds, are you sure of their present value? If you own heirloom jewelry, have you had the jewels appraised? Do you know the comparative values of canary or colored diamonds versus white diamonds? Mr. Corbat will explain and illustrate to you his professional technique. You will also see the world's most beautiful watches and handmade jewelry when you

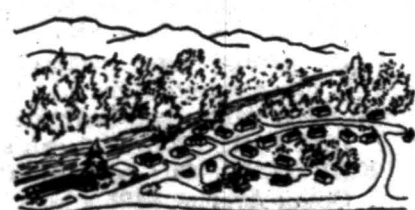

"relaxed life" in Carmel and the cordiality they have encountered.

visit HENRI CORBAT'S SWISS SHOP, SAN CARLOS NEAR FIFTH.

X X X
Irish? Of course, you may have it straight! Straight from Dublin. At least that's where it is packaged. But you can be sure these tweeds, and mohairs, and finely woven wools, come from the crofters, cottages! Touch and sniff, and you'll be carried away—to the rolling emerald hills and dales. Look at the beautifully styled, impeccably tailored skirts and blouses and shirts in Ferguson's of Dublin and, if you are that kind of a fashionable, fastidious and luxury loving that is, you'll say "Begorra, that's for me!" New in Carmel and already a must with the status crowd, this tiny bit of Ireland is for both men and women. The variety of sweaters, bulky or flat knits, in wool or mohair, seems endless, all to be mixed or matched with slacks or skirts, straight, pleated or A-line. Stoles for the cold country, for chill evenings here, for 'round the clock elegance. Gifts, imported, amusing . . . don't miss the tiny leprechauns. Don't miss Mrs. Ferguson, Don't miss—FERGUSON'S OF DUBLIN, THE MALL, SAN CARLOS, BETWEEN SIXTH AND FIFTH.

X X X
From the cradle to the grave, they're alluring. Babies cry for them; teen-agers sit them on their beds; and men cast a pleased eye in their direction. Dolls! Baby dolls, school girl dolls, frilly fashionable lady dolls! I saw them, all shapes and sizes, some with family trees, going back 100 years, they were the most precious, in their 19th century clothes, the creations of world famous makers. I visited artist and craftsman Gina Miller in her little white House of Dolls and I was abashed that I knew so little about the tiny creatures that surrounded me. Frozen Charlotte, four inches tall, of glazed china, is a museum character. Pamela the Peddler, in her two-color cape, her sheer octon frock and flannel petticoat, I found irresistible. There are dolls with fur eyebrows and shoulder-attached heads of bisque by Armin Marcellis . . . the famous baby by Grace Putnam is there too. And! Gina's terrific walking rag doll danced and curtsied for me. You may have dolls made to order, old treasure dolls repaired, select from the amazing stock of Gina originals, or if you are collector—do see Topsy-and-Eva; Shirley Temple; and the flirt who rolls her eyes. Mrs. Miller is a delightful hostess, don't miss! GINA-NAN HOUSE OF DOLLS, 306 FOREST AVENUE, PACIFIC GROVE.

Delightful trees and surroundings. The price of $15,000 is firm and it's probably what you have been looking for.

PERCHED ON THE RIM OF THE MESA we have an exciting house to show you. The living room, master bedroom, den and sun deck overlook permanent views of the Valley and hills. There are 2 other bedrooms, a bath, a family room and a completely built in kitchen. The floor plan is excellent and there's even a wet bar in the den. Reasonably priced at $46,500.

SOME NEW LISTINGS THIS WEEK . . .

IN ONE OF THE LOVELIEST OF ALL CARMEL NEIGHBORHOODS, on Randall Way, we offer a house and garden for which the word "charming" must have been invented. 3 large bedrooms, 2 lovely baths, full dining room, gracious living room, a thoroughly delightful lanai, and probably one of the prettiest patio gardens in Carmel. Price, only $49,500.

IN THE COUNTRY CLUB ("a nine-iron shot from the third green," said our Fran when she brought in the listing) we have a five-year old home on a most attractive corner lot, 2 bedrooms, 2 baths, a den which could easily be a third bedroom, a country-type kitchen with built-in appliances—all this for $35,000 with excellent financing.

ONE OF THE LANDMARK HOMES IN CARMEL HIGHLANDS, on almost two acres of land with a "Highlands Inn view" from most every window. Built like a rock, 5 bedrooms, 5 baths, and the most astonishing dressing room closets you've ever seen—plus lots of other interesting detail and millwork. It would be a delightful experience to "restore" this lovely old home. $65,000 is the price.

ON THE BUSLINE in CARMEL, a very nice 2 bedroom rustic home with fenced yard, garage, plastered and paneled interior, central heat, hardwood floors, and included in the low $29,500 price are the stove, refrigerator and drapes.

OUT IN THE VALLEY, two very special building sites. If it's beginning to depress you to have houses crunched right up to you on either side, we have two really great spots on the top of a mountain. One is 3 acres at $30,000 (divisible into three lots, if you like) and the other is 2½ acres for $16,000—just one building site because of the terrain which, together with the private road, protects your privacy. We have pictures which will give you an idea of the view, or we'll be glad to run you out to see them.

AND NOTE—This week you can "swim right in" to the house we advertised last week at the now low price of $55,000. We told you the owner is in a hurry to sell.

Hugh E. Smith To Be Carmel City Forester

and the institution of the intensive forestry management plan is a result of the forestry and arts commissions asking the council to reconsider an ordinance controlling the cutting of trees on private property which was defeated two years ago by a 3-2 council vote.

The council referred this request to Councilman Grant and James C. Buffington Jr., its lands and improvements committee.

In a report to the council, the committee recommended the action taken by the council last night.

The report also recommended that the lands and improvements committee, the city forester and the city attorney rewrite the defeated ordinance to embody the objectives decided upon last night, then present the rewritten ordinance to the council for its consideration.

Mr. Smith, the city's forester as of last night, is a member of the Carmel Planning Commission and operates Smith Tree Service. He has a B. Sc. degree in forestry management from the University of Washington.

His father, Everett Smith, was the forester for Del Monte Properties Company from 1928 to 1942, then started the business which his son took over in 1955 after working with his father for five years. His employment as city forester began today.

Editor's Column . . .

these visitors are coming whether we serve them with parks or not. They are coming from the hot inland valleys and the overcrowded cities. And, with the broad fast freeways encouraging travel, they are coming from every state in the nation.

We will be faced with wholesale trespassing on private lands. We will find camping trailers lining our roads. We will be sickened by refuse and threatened by camping fires. The crowds on our beaches and the adjacent parking problems will actually destroy much of the quality we came here to enjoy.

Yes, the people are coming! We cannot stem the tide at our county line. Additional parks providing open space, providing facilities for camping, providing supervision for recreation are the prime solution. These parks, although they take lands off the county tax rolls, in turn, become an essential part of the economy of the community.

Out of the $150 million bond to acquire these needed parks and beaches, $85 million will be turned directly toward acquisition throughout the state, $20 million will be applied to developing the necessary public facilities to handle recreation, $5 million will go toward wildlife conservation and $40 million will be divided among the counties for local grants in the vicinity of population centers. Monterey County will receive $496,500 from this last category—as well as a generous share from the total acquisition fund.

In our local scene, under consideration for park acquisition are "Monterey Pines" which will not only safeguard open space but will offer camping, picnic areas and hiking trails.

The Del Monte Beach in Monterey is another listed acquisition which will relieve increasing pressures on the Carmel beaches.

An enlargement of Big Sur State Park will multiply many times its present capacity for camping and recreation.

These three are an indication

District Governor Walter L. Sanders, above, was the keynote speaker at the Carmel Lions Club meeting on Tuesday evening. He brought to local members a report on the Lions International Convention which he attended in Toronto, Canada, also related some of the plans for increasing community service at the club level.

Mr. Sanders is governor of Lions District 4-C6 which is comprised of 45 clubs in Santa Cruz, Santa Clara, San Benito and Monterey counties.

of what the passage of the park bond issue can bring the Peninsula. Other coast beaches are also proposed.

Yes, Proposition One is a challenge! It's a now-or-never challenge. Fortunately, we have the means to accomplish it.

Dell Henry Harthorn Applies For S.S.

this siege vividly.

Cowboy and Indian stories on TV are nothing like the actual thing, he says, for instance, no Indian would ever show himself as they do on the screen.

In 1887, Mr. Harthorn came to Los Angeles and married Shellie V. Cotton there in 1892.

The young couple settled in Long Beach, then just a summer resort.

During the next 27 years they raised four children while Mr. Harthorn worked for the Singer Sewing Machine Company, then opened his own store where he sold pianos and musical instruments.

He sold this business and in 1918 moved his family to Carmel, "rested up" for a year and "did nothing" except build a home for his family at the corner of Twelfth and Junipero.

In 1907, the Harthorns had bought the block bounded by Twelfth and Eleventh between Junipero and Mission. This they used for camping vacations until they built a home on it when they moved here permanently.

Mr. Harthorn says he paid Frank Devendorf, Carmel developer, $1,500 for the block. Later he sold the 25 by 100 foot lots facing Junipero for $125 each and the 40 by 100 foot lots facing Mission for twice that amount.

Except for two dwellings, he

Carmel Planners Study Zoning In Annexation Areas

At their special session last week, Carmel planning commissioners studied the effects on Carmel's general plan, also municipal zoning, if Carmel Point and Mission Fields, Walker, Rio Way and Mission tracts should be annexed to the city.

The planning commission will hold another special meeting on October 15, 7:30 p.m. in city hall, to study these matters further and prepare a report on them for the city council, a necessary step in the annexation procedure.

Last Thursday commissioners observed the difference in residential lot sizes in the city and in the areas requesting annexation. Inside the city, residential lots are 4,000 square feet in size while in the outside areas, this type of lot is 5,000 square feet or larger. This discrepancy would require some zoning adjustment if annexation takes place, commissioners realized.

Furthermore, certain zoning adjustments would be necessary to make the outside areas conform to Carmel's general plan.

For example, the area of Flinders Canyon opposite Carmel Mission Basilica is zoned by the county for multiple dwellings. In the city's general plan this presently undeveloped land is designated for acquisition as natural park greenbelt use.

At other locations in the county areas, commissioners noted, land designated as greenbelt in the general plan has been developed. These "lost" greenbelt areas are the Jeffers property, now subdivided; lots on the ocean side of Scenic Drive, now built upon; and the Walt Pilot property along the Carmel River, now being subdivided.

Another recognition of the commissioners was the non-conforming use of the Mission Ranch.

SYMPHONY SEASON TICKETS DELAYED

Due to unforeseen circumstances, season tickets for the Monterey County Symphony's concert series, scheduled to go in the mail earlier this week have been delayed.

In making this announcement, symphony association president says he built every house in this block. In all, he estimates he has built 21 houses in Carmel, including the one in which he now lives at First and Carpenter.

Mr. Harthorn also designed and constructed some buildings in the business district. One of these is May Court on the west side of Mission north of Sixth. His daughter, Mrs. Charles May, at one time operated a dry cleaning business there. At present, a doughnut shop, a dry cleaning business, a book store and a tailor's shop occupy the court premises.

SANITARY DISTRICT HAS NEW PRESIDENT

At the annual meeting of the Carmel Sanitary District Board on Tuesday evening, Harold C. Arnot of Carmel Point was elected president. Harry Hilbert continues as the board's secretary. Shelburn Robison was retained as legal counsel.

Mr. Arnot succeeds W. I. Shepard in the presidency. In addition to those already mentioned, sanitary district board members are H. R. Fonseca, James B. Pruitt and J.O. Handley.

Tony Royal stated that every effort is being made to see that these tickets will be in the mail by the beginning of next week. He also expressed his regrets for any inconvenience this delay may have caused local subscribers.

The orchestra's five concert series will commence October 27, at 8:30 p.m. in Carmel's Sunset Auditorium.

Council Raises Hostelry Tax

The city council, last night, decided to raise the Carmel hostelry tax to four percent on January 1, 1965.

At present the city levies a three percent tax on the amount paid for all overnight accommodations within the city limits. This money is earmarked for capital improvements and greenbelt acquisition.

The raise in the hostelry tax will bring Carmel's "room tax" levy to the level of the hostelry tax recently instituted in Monterey, also the four percent hostelry tax contemplated by Pacific Grove.

Mayor Blanks said the action taken last night did not provide any earmarking of the additional one percent which will be collected beginning in January.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone
